

PUBLICATIONS ANNOUNCEMENT

Institute of Philippine Culture

The Institute of Philippine Culture is an organization that studies local problems of education and economic development and hopes to promote a better understanding of the Filipino way of life.

The IPC Papers is the main channel through which the institute disseminates research findings on those aspects of the Philippines with which it concerns itself.

For more information, write to:

The Publications Editor
 Institute of Philippine Culture
 Ateneo de Manila
 P. O. Box 154, Manila D-406
 Philippines

Or call 99-87-21, 98-25-41.

The IPC Guide to Tagalog/Ilocano/Ibanag

Teodoro A. Llamzon's pocket guide designed for the visitor to the Philippines' Northern Luzon, or the Ilocos and Cagayan Valley. Tagalog, Ilocano, and Ibanag equivalents are written in English-based key symbols. The guide also includes a word, phrase and subject index.

3 x 5                                      86 pages                                      ₱4.25/$1.70                                      paper

IPC Papers No. 4

Modernization; Its Impact in the Philippines

Richard Stone interprets driving behavior of Manilans; Frank Lynch and Ronald Himes present Tagalog concepts of kinship and disease; David Szanton reports his initial impressions of the rural fishing community of Estancia, Iloilo; David Roy and others sum up findings of the Philippines Peace Corps Survey; Frank Lynch and Perla Makil offer their minimanual for interviewing in the rural Philippines.

6 x 9                                      133 pages                                      ₱6.25/$2.60                                      paper

IPC Papers No. 6

Modernization: Its Impact in the Philippines III

George Guthrie and F. M. Azores report on Filipino interpersonal relations; Richard Stone and Joy Marsella present life in a squatter community in suburban Manila; A. P. Hare, R. T. Hare, and Dean Peabody use statistical data to show differences in autonomy and group judgments among Filipino, Chinese, African, and American students; Helen Guthrie describes the diets in a fishing community.

6 x 9                                      148 pages                                      ₱6.25/$2.60                                      paper

IPC Papers No. 7

Modernization: Its Impact in the Philippines IV

William Bruton rates the effectivity of the kursillo, or "little course in Christianity"; Mary Hollnsteiner traces the urbanization of Manila and discusses its present and future needs; Walden Bello and others show the seriousness of the Philippine "brain drain"; A.P. Hare describes cultural differences between Filipinos, Africans, and Americans by differences in performance in communication-network experiments; Alan Stevens writes a linguistic analysis of accent in Bikol; R.T. Hare discusses autonomy, dependency, and problem-solving in Filipino children; Helen Guthrie analyzes infant and maternal nutrition among Tagalogs.

6 x 9                                      187 pages                                      ₱11.90/$4.90                                      paper

NOW Available

A series of READERS on LINGUISTICS:
(Mimeographed).

● A READER IN GENERAL LINGUISTICS

Ferdinand de Saussure "The Object of Linguistics", André Martinet "Language and Languages", Charles F. Hockett "The Origin of Speech", R. H. Robins "General Linguistics: The Scope of the Subject", Leonard Bloomfield "The Study of Language", John P. Hughes "The Pre-Scientific Period", "The Periods of Scientific Linguistics", Henry A. Gleason, Jr. "Some Languages and Language Families", Edward Sapir "Language, Race and Culture", etc. pp. v, 164, P8.00 per copy.

● A READER IN THREE GRAMMATICAL THEORIES

Henry A. Gleason "The Organization of Language: A Stratificational View", Sydney M. Lamb "A Sememic Approach to Structural Semantics", "Prolegomena to a Theory of Phonology", Robert Longacre "Some Fundamental Insights of Tagmemics", "String Constituent Analysis", Kenneth L. Pike "On Tagmemes, née Gramemes", Noam Chomsky "Explanatory Models in Linguistics", "Current Issues in Linguistic Theory", Paul Postal "Underlying and Superficial Linguistic Structure", etc., pp. iii, 294, P15.00 per copy.

● A READER IN MORPHOLOGY AND SYNTAX

Dwight Bolinger "On Defining the Morpheme", Zellig Harris "Morpheme Alternants in Linguistic Analysis", "From Morpheme to Utterance", Charles F. Hockett "Linguistic Elements and their Relations", "Two Models of Grammatical Description", André Martinet "Elements of Functional Syntax", "About Structural Sketches", Rulon S. Wells "Immediate Constituents", etc., pp. iii, 156, P8.50 per copy.

● A READER IN PHONOLOGY

F. Twaddell "On Defining the Phoneme", Morris Swadesh "The Phonemic Principle", Yuen-Ren Chao "The Non-Uniqueness of Phonemic Principles", M. Swadesh and C. F. Voegelin "A Problem in Phonological Alternation", R. H. Robins "Aspects of Prosodic Analysis", Dwight Bolinger "Intonation: Levels vs. Configurations", Bernard Bloch "Phonemic Overlapping", André Martinet "Phonological Analysis", Peter Denes, and Eliot Pinson "The Physics of Sound", "Speech Production", pp. v, 190, P9.00 per copy.

Write to: ATENEO LANGUAGE CENTER
P.O. Box 154, Manila