

PHILIPPINE JOURNAL OF LINGUISTICS

The Philippine Journal of Linguistics is the official organ of the Linguistic Society of the Philippines. It publishes original studies in descriptive, comparative, historical, and areal linguistics. Although its primary interest is in linguistic theory, it also publishes papers on the application of theory to language teaching, sociolinguistics, psycholinguistics, anthropological linguistics, etc. Papers on applied linguistics should, however, be chiefly concerned with the principles which underlie specific techniques, rather than with the mechanical aspects of such techniques. Articles are published in English, although papers written in Pilipino, the national language of the Philippines, will occasionally appear. Since the Linguistic Society of the Philippines is composed of members whose paramount interests are the Philippine languages, papers on these and related languages are given priority in publication. This does not mean, however, that the journal will limit its scope to the Austronesian language family. Studies on aspects of any language structure are welcome.

Manuscripts for publication, exchange journals, and books for review or listing should be sent to the Editor, Philippine Journal of Linguistics, P.O. Box 154, Manila D-406, Philippines. Manuscripts from the United States and Europe should be sent to Dr. Lawrence Reid, Pacific and Asian Linguistics Institute, University of Hawaii, 1980 East-West Road, Honolulu, Hawaii 96822, U.S.A.
