The Philippine Political Science Association was founded in 1956 with Dr. Jose M. Aruego as its initial president. However, it was not until 1962 that the Association was formalized, incorporated and registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and given a life of fifty years. Dr. Pedro L. Baldoria was the charter president. The Association was inactive after his death in 1966. On September 29, 1973, the Association was reactivated in response to the growing demand for concerted professional activities among political scientists. It was only then that efforts began to be exerted to secure initial funding to publish the Journal due to the unavailability of Association funds for the purpose.
