

About the Contributors

Rizal G. Buendia is a Teaching Fellow at the Department of Politics and International Studies, School of Oriental and African Studies (SOAS), University of London and Associate Professor (on leave) at the Department of Political Science of De la Salle University-Manila. He was the national and regional (NCR) awardee of the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) Republica Award in the Social Sciences, Economics, Education and Humanities category (2007) for his paper, "The State-Moro Armed Conflict in the Philippines: Unresolved National Question or Question of Governance?" published in the Asian Journal of Political Science (June 2005). rb42@soas.ac.uk

Perlita M. Frago is an Assistant Professor at the Department of Political Science, University of the Philippines-Diliman. She finished her Ph.D. in political science in 2006 at the Graduate School of International Cooperation Studies at Kobe University. She co-edited a book entitled, Philippine Civil Society and the Globalization Discourse (2004). perlita.frago@up.edu.ph

Raymund Jose G. Quilop is an Assistant Professor of political science at the University of the Philippines-Diliman. He is also a senior researcher/analyst of the Office of Strategic and Special Studies of the Armed Forces of the Philippines and a Fellow of the Institute for Strategic and Development Studies. He holds a masters degree in political science from the University of the Philippines. raymund_jose.quilop@up.edu.ph

Seiichi Igarashi is a postdoctoral research fellow of the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science (JSPS). He earned his M.A. degree at Waseda University in 1999 followed by a Ph.D. in 2008. He is the author of Democratization and Civil Society in the Philippines (Seibundou, 2004). seiichi_igarashi@nifty.com