

About the Authors

---

Ricardo Abad is chairman, department of sociology and anthropology, Ateneo de Manila University, Quezon City and editor Philippine Sociological Review.

Fred Arnold is a research associate at East-West Center, University of Hawaii, Honolulu, U.S.A.

Sally Findley is with the department of sociology, Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island, U.S.A. and was visiting research associate at the Institute of Philippine Culture, Ateneo de Manila University while she was writing this article.

Eliseo A. de Guzman is assistant professor at the Population Institute, College of Social Science and Philosophy, University of the Philippines, Diliman, Quezon City and secretary of the Board of Directors, Demographic Research and Development Foundation, Inc. (DRDF).

Gordon F. De Jong is with Population Issues Research Office and Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pennsylvania, U.S.A.

Cesar Mercado is professor at the Institute of Mass Communication, University of the Philippines, Diliman, Quezon City.

Fililogo Pante is deputy director-general of the National Economic and Development Authority and president, Philippine Institute for Development Studies.

Published by the Commission on Population and the Demographic Research and Development Foundation, Inc.