AGHAMTAO is the official publication of the Ugnayang Pang-Aghamtao, Inc. (UGAT), the Anthropological Association of the Philippines. AGHAMTAO comes out as a regular issue at least once a year, in October. In addition, there may also be special issues. Each issue usually centers on a theme in order to document and to continue reports and discussions from the UGAT conference and special events for the year. Individual contributions for AGHAMTAO are also welcomed, and should be received by April. All submissions are screened by the Editorial Board, and selected articles will undergo a double-blind review process.

Instructions for authors/contributors: Each article should be accompanied by an abstract of not more than 250 words. The minimum length for article submissions is 3,000 words. Please list up to 5 keywords, alphabetically arranged. For referencing style please consult the AGHAMTAO styleguide at the UGAT website.

The Editors assume no liability or responsibility for the personal views or opinions expressed by the authors.

Inquiries and communications should be addressed to the Head of the Publications Committee or to the Executive Director of the Ugnayang Pang-AghamTao, Inc.
