AGHAMTAO is the official publication of the Ugnayang Pang-Aghamtao, Inc. (UGAT), the Anthropological Association of the Philippines. Beginning with its maiden issue in 1978 devoted to a stocktaking of Anthropology in the Philippines, AGHAMTAO continues to provide a forum for the scholarship and practice of anthropology in the Philippines. AGHAMTAO comes out as a regular issue in October. All submissions are screened by the Editorial Board, and undergo a double-blind peer review process. The journal has accreditation with the Commission on Higher Education.

The Editors assume no liability or responsibility for the personal views or opinions expressed by the authors.

Instructions for contributors: Articles should be accompanied by an abstract of not more than 250 words. The minimum length for article submissions is 3,000 words. For referencing style please consult previous issues of AGHAMTAO.

Inquiries and communications should be addressed to:
