PHILIPPINE POPULATION JOURNAL

Philippine Population Association

c/o UPPI Palma Hall, University of the Philippines

Diliman, Quezon City, Philippines

INFORMATION FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Editorial Policy The Philippine Population Journal publishes original papers, reviews, documents, lectures and major book reviews that may be of scientific interest to students of population of the Philippines and of practical value to population planners and policy-makers. Preference will be given to materials with clear program and policy implications. Papers which are accepted for publication will be subject to minor editorial changes for reasons of style, format and expression.

2. Review of Manuscripts Articles submitted will be reviewed initially for appropriateness by the editors and, when judged appropriate, will be sent to referees who are knowledgeable about the subject area. Papers that are provisionally accepted with revisions will be sent back to the author for revision and/or concurrence within two weeks. The final judgment will be that of the editors, but they will be influenced heavily by the recommendations of the editorial staff and the referees.

3. Preparation of Manuscripts To be submitted are two copies of the article clearly typewritten on one side of the paper (standard 8 1/2 by 11 inches) only, double-space, with margins of at least 1 1/2 inches on both sides. The article should be between 20-40 pages.

4. Abstract An abstract of not more than 100 words must be prepared together with the article. The abstract must contain keywords that aptly describe the article's content.

5. Acknowledgments These must be done in a separate section.

6. Cover Page Cover page should contain title, author, institutional affiliation and complete address of author to whom proofs and correspondence should be sent.

7. Illustrations and Tables Tables and charts should be numbered with arabic numerals and should carry brief descriptive titles. Illustrations should preferably be submitted in a form suitable for direct reproduction.

8. Notes Explanatory and supplementary material may be placed in NOTES on a separate page. However, notes should be kept to a minimum.

9. References References must be listed using the format in the reference sections of this issue.
